HERE'S A LOOK AT WHAT WE'RE LEARNING!

Math

Students will continue to learn about money over the next 3 weeks.

Students will need to be able to recognize and know the value of a penny, nickel, dime, and quarter. Students will also need to be able to count coins up to two dollars and write the money in correct form.

Students will also have to compare values of money as well.

Units

Students will finish learning about the Scientific Method this week. Students will then be learning about magnets over the next few weeks.

Literacy

Students will use story elements when reading fiction books. They will need to know characters, setting, problem, and solution. They will also need to know question words such as Who?, What?, When?, Where?, Why?, and How?

Students will be stretching their writings out. Students will try to put in a who, what, when, where, why, and how in their sentences to make them sound better.

Stretch a Sentence

Doing What?	My cute puppy curls up on the rug.
